About This Game

THE TRUTH IS NEAR. COME INSIDE.

Are you finally free?

Forever Lost is a first person point and click adventure game that is stuffed full of logical puzzles, fantastic graphics, mind-blowing riddles, intriguing story details, a little voice acting, and beautiful music!

The truth is near. Look inside.

Founded in 1806, the Hawthorne Asylum was active during a time when patients were treated less like people and more like lab rats.

Although closed down in the 50's due to changing ethical standards it is said that experiments were still being conducted for decades to come.

This is the concluding episode to the Forever Lost story, if you haven't played the previous two episodes then please go do that now, we can objectively say they're awesome.

A first person point and click game filled with puzzles, objects, rooms, and more puzzles. Plus there's an actual story for those players that way inclined.

- Inspired by classic 2D point'n'click adventure games and modern culture!
- In game camera so you can take photos of all the clues and rooms you find.
- Pure, classic adventure that harks back to the golden days of Myst.
- A mesmerising and original soundtrack composed exclusively by Richard J. Moir.
- A full hint guide to make sure you never get stuck.
- Clues to find and puzzles to solve!

Use the Glitch Camera to:

- Take photos of everything you find. Be they posters, clues, walls, or disturbing blood stains.
- Write notes on them like a real detective. Use less paper, kill fewer trees, save the planet!
- Use your notes to solve puzzles. Pop multiple photos out so that you can look at them at the same time.

Forever Lost* is a compelling trilogy and all three episodes are finished and ready to play!
